

We have too much of the same old crap in the media already. Allowing more consolidation of media outlets into the hands of a very few corporations will make it almost impossible for people to get the information they need to be responsible citizens.